My professional life has demanded me to develop policies & procedures for my organization, since 2009 when I stepped into my own business. I then replicated the same in my new business ventures too

What lessons did you learn from previous leadership positions?

Every leadership position I held in Toastmasters was challenging and a learning experience too. One of the key lesson I learnt was managing difficult teams and people, bringing them to a common platform

Why do you want to serve as a District leader?

I have been serving the Toastmasters since 17 years in which four terms were at District level and am sure I can add more value to the District, especially serving as one of the Trio this term

In your opinion, what are the District mission's major objectives and how would you work to achieve them?

Currently, our District is the number one District in the world, and the first ever Smedley Distinguished District. Hence, we have a huge responsibility to keep the momentum and continue the legacy for which we trio along with the entire team is working on. Taking leads from last years experience and current situation, we are heads on to achieve the same
